All students who borrow a federal loan must complete federal entrance counseling and a federal master promissory note.

Entrance Counseling

The goal of entrance counseling is to help you understand what it means to take out a federal loan <https://studentaid.gov/entrance-counseling/> All students must complete entrance counseling in order to receive a federal loan. Since this will be a new federal loan at The College entrance counseling must be completed.

(MPN) for Graduate/Professional Students

The Graduate/Professional Master Promissory Note (MPN) is a legal document in which you promise to repay your federal student loan(s) and any accrued interest and fees to your lender or loan holder and includes Federal Direct PLUS loans. There is one MPN for Direct Subsidized/Unsubsidized Loans and a different MPN for Direct PLUS Loans. Most schools are authorized to make multiple federal student loans under one MPN for up to 10 years.

Comparing Loan Options

The Department of Education provides a free resource to assist students with identifying the differences between federal-vs-private loans <https://studentaid.gov/understand-aid/types/loans/federal-vs-private>. Students are also encouraged to review the Office of Financial Aid list of private loan guidelines and information before applying to a private lender.

For students who conclude that private loans are the right option, we recommend that you review many lenders and compare costs and terms before borrowing. Our office will process a private loan application with the lender of your choice. However, we cannot recommend any private lender. All borrowing decisions are the responsibility of the student.

Private Loans

Private loans, sometimes referenced as "alternative loans," may be a good option in some circumstances, students should be aware that these types of loans are not subject to the same oversight and regulations which cover federal loans, and they do not qualify for the same benefits as federal loans. Private loans can have different terms and conditions of the loans than those loans made under Title IV but have competitive rates and repayments schedules.

Private loans are approved to a student under the assumption that the student will attend the College for the entire period for which the assistance is awarded. When a student fails to attend for the duration of the period, the student may no longer be eligible for the full amount of loan that he/she was originally scheduled to receive. It is the student's responsibility to know the terms and conditions of the lender from which they borrowed. Students who withdraw, take an unapproved leave of absence, are suspended, or dismissed from the college, are responsible for payment of any balance that becomes due to the school upon leaving. In light of this, we
